

PRIEST ATTACKED FOR HIS EVIDENCE

His Statements Made on Stand Are Described as "Vaudeville."

TRIAL IS NEARING END

Attorneys for Beiliss Realize He Is in Desperate Predicament.

Kiev, Russia, November 3.—"Vaudeville" is the term used to-day by the newspaper Klovsky Mysl, in reference to testimony of Father Pranas, the priest from Turkestan, at the trial of Mendel Beiliss. It adds that the priest has proved a "broken reed" for the prosecution.

Judge Boldirev, president of the court, became impatient at to-day's hearing when Father Pranas continually replied, "I don't know" to questions, and was unable even to indicate the texts of the Talmud and the Bible on which he based denunciations of the Jews. The judge sharply demanded whether the witness could hear the questions put to him.

Father Pranas did not confine his charges to any particular sect of fanatics, but declared all Jews concerned in ritual observances.

After alluding to the significance of the number of the wounds and to the method of killing employed, Father

Pranas said the object of ritual crimes was to hasten the arrival of the Messiah.

When asked to produce the book containing a description of those practices, the priest replied that it was in St. Petersburg.

A correspondent interviewed the lawyers for Mendel Beiliss to-day as to his opinion of the outcome in the famous "ritual murder" trial.

"I am very much afraid that the verdict will be guilty, and that the prisoner will be sent to Siberia for life," said the lawyer. "If the verdict were left to an ordinary jury there would be no question as to the issue. But when one remembers that eight of the jury in this case are peasants, who can neither read nor write, let alone understand the intricacies of expert testimony; and that of the other four, three are minor government officials, and the last is a policeman, it is not difficult to realize the desperate situation of the defendant."

"Nevertheless," he continued, "God is good, and miracles have happened before now. The case of the prosecution has, of course, fallen to pieces, and there is not left a point which can be used against the prisoner. To-day's evidence was a great triumph for truth. Two of Russia's greatest authorities on ritualism have placed the evidence introduced by Pranas, the priest, who dared to maintain the existence of 'ritual murder,' thus making himself the laughingstock of the whole world. To-morrow, Professor Tazza, of Moscow, will give similar testimony, and that will conclude the defense. After that there will be the speeches of counsel. The verdict may be expected by Saturday."

It is learned on the best authority that Grouseburg, who is leading attorney for Beiliss, will visit America after the trial and deliver a series of lectures on the Beiliss affair, the proceeds from which will be turned over to Mrs. Beiliss and her family, who are said to be in a state approaching starvation.

News of Petersburg

The Times-Dispatch Bureau.
5 Bollingsbrook Street,
Petersburg, Va., November 3.

John Rowlette, who shot himself through the right temple at his home in Ettrick yesterday afternoon, died in the Petersburg Hospital this morning about 1 o'clock. An operation failed to benefit him. Mr. Rowlette was about forty years old, was a carpenter by trade, and for some time had been employed by the Harrison Construction Company, of this city, and was respected by all who knew him. He is survived by his father, two brothers and three sisters and by four children—Misses Ray Virginia and Dorris May Rowlette—all of Ettrick. No cause is assigned for the act, though recent deaths in his family, including his wife and oldest daughter, are believed to have caused him to become despondent. The body was taken to his home in Ettrick to-day, from which the funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon.

Stolen Money Returned.

About four weeks ago the residence of John Jackson, in Dinwiddie County, about seven miles from Petersburg, was entered, the trunk broken open, and the sum of $4.85 was stolen. Nothing else was taken. The robbery remained a mystery, no clue ever having been obtained as to the identity of the thief. The mystery was still further deepened when, on Friday last, Mr. Jackson received in his mail a letter postmarked New York, in which was enclosed a money order for $4.85. There was no explanation in the letter other than it was the return of the stolen money. In the trunk at the time were a gold watch, jewelry and other valuables, which were left undisturbed.

Pythian Memorial.

The Pythian memorial services at the Washington Street Christian Church last night were largely attended, and, while simple in character, were impressive. There was a full turn out of Pythians, including a delegation of prominent members of the order from Richmond. Special music was rendered, and a fine sermon appropriate to the occasion was preached by the pastor, the Rev. George C. Zeigler.

Large Peanut Receipts.

The market for new Spanish peanuts which opened a few days ago at $1.50 per bushel, declined on Saturday to $1.40, and there has been a further decline since to $1.35. The receipts last week, principally by wagons, from the adjacent counties were quite large, aggregating about 7,000 bags.

Historic Spots to Be Marked.

The regular meeting of Petersburg Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, to-day was of more than ordinary interest. Mrs. E. W. Griggs, chairman of the marker committee, reported that the headquarters of General R. E. Lee, at Violet, in Chesterfield, at the Turnbull place, on the Cox Road, in Dinwiddie, opposite the Central State Hospital, and at the Beasley house, on High Street, in this city, would soon be marked by the Daughters. The National City Bank place first. Mrs. Griggs also reported that markers will also be placed at the sites of the various Confederate hospitals in Petersburg. The Daughters have heretofore placed markers at several historic points, as also has the A. P. Hill Camp, Sons of Confederate Veterans.

Sale of Good Will, Etc.

The good will and effects of the late real estate firm of Pyle & Co., Inc., sold at auction for the trustees to-day. The good will, including correspondence, etc., were bought by J. C. McD. Pope for $650. An option on 14,000 acres of farm land in Dinwiddie was sold to J. L. Rosenberg for $65, the entire sale amounted to $1,215.85.

General News Notes.

As appropriate to the coming centennial celebration of Tabb Street Presbyterian Church, the pastor, the Rev. C. R. Strubling, will next Sunday preach on the church, giving a history of its organization and progress, and a sketch of the various pastors who served it.

The Junior Memorial Association of this city, composed of boys and girls, has contributed more than $100 to the Ladies' Memorial Association fund for the erection of the memorial arch in Blandford Cemetery.

Robert Henry Saunders, aged seventy-two years, a Confederate veteran, died at his home on a Confederate pension of $1.50 a week, this afternoon. He is survived by his daughter, Mrs. F. M. Gallie, of Petersburg, and his daughter, Mrs. M. P. Lewis, of Richmond.

BIG TAX PROBLEM HAS BEEN SOLVED

Supreme Court Upholds Massachusetts Law Levying on Foreign Corporations.

Washington, November 3.—After years of vain endeavor, Massachusetts has solved the problem of taxing foreign corporations doing business within her border. The Supreme Court to-day sustained as constitutional the Massachusetts foreign corporation tax law of 1909. Chief Justice White and Justices Vandevanter and Pitney dissented. The decision was regarded by many as marking an epoch in State taxation.

The Massachusetts law provides that every foreign corporation shall pay annually an excise tax of one-fiftieth of 1 per cent of its authorized stock. Justice Day, who delivered the decision, and Justices Holmes, McKenna, Lurton, Hughes and Lamar interpreted this to mean almost the same as the Federal corporation law. They held that this meant a tax on the privilege of doing business within the State, and not a tax on the property of the corporation outside the State.

Though no dissenting opinion was delivered, the report was current during the day that the dissenting members of the court held the case to be virtually identical with the Western Union and Pullman cases from Kansas, wherein a Kansas tax on foreign corporations was held unconstitutional a few years ago. Justice Day directed much of his argument to this point. He said that the Kansas cases involved taxes upon capital stock representing property both in and out of the State, the law thus imposing a burden on interstate commerce. He pointed out that the business of the Western Union and the Pullman Company was interstate commerce, while the business of one company was mining and the other manufacturing, only incidentally connected with interstate commerce. He said that the Massachusetts law was not to be interpreted as a tax on interstate commerce or as applying to foreign corporations engaged wholly in interstate commerce.

Big Income Saved.

Boston, Mass., November 3.—An income of $250,000 a year is saved to the State by the Supreme Court's decision to-day upholding the Massachusetts foreign corporation tax law.

LOANS ON STOCKS NOT PREFERENTIAL

Supreme Court Hands Down Important Decision in Bankruptcy Case.

ECHO OF GREAT COAL POOL

National City Bank Plaintiff to Recover Money Lost in Hocking Valley.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Washington, November 3.—The Supreme Court held to-day in appeal cases brought by New York brokers against lending New York bankers that market loans on securities could not be made preferential unless they were thrown under trustee accounts and credited specially to such accounts.

Associate Justice Holmes delivered the decision of the court. "A trust," says the court, "cannot be established in aliquot share of a man's whole property as distinct from a particular fund by showing that trust monies have gone into it. A lien cannot be asserted upon a fund in a borrower's hands, which at an earlier stage might have been subject to it, if by consent of the claimant it has become a part of the borrower's general estate."

A firm of New York, Henry S. Haskins & Co., failed in the Hocking Valley coal pool of 1910. On January 19, that year, the firm had assets exceeding $500,000. In two hours, through a break in the pool and the market, a Haskins was wiped out and owed nearly $1,000,000. The National City Bank, New York, made a clearance loan to the brokers of $500,000 on the broker's securities. When the brokers failed and owed the bank $1,000,000, the bank refused to protect through other securities the broker's firm, which securities were turned over to the bank as a preferential.

"The bank did not confine its demands to proceeds of the loan," says Justice Holmes, "but asked for and obtained security without regard to their source. There was notice that the securities were given as preferential. April 5, 1910, the firm agreed with the bank that it should sell the securities at the best price. No sale took place. The decree of the lower court was for a delivery of the securities with interest and dividends for $1,617,740.02. As the securities declined in value since conversion and since the agreement with the bank, the bankrupt claimed the right to take the sum claimed and not the amount for which the securities could have been sold. The agreement of the bank not to be put in a worse position because of exercise of its best judgment."

The case was appealed to the Supreme Court by the National City Bank, which lost in judgment rendered by the New York District Court in favor of Henry D. Hotchkiss, trustee in bankruptcy of Henry S. Haskins. A similar decision was rendered in the case of Irving T. Ernst and others, trustees in bankruptcy of William F. Humphrey, a stock broker, who failed on call loans. There was $400,000 involved in the Humphrey loan, the Haskins' and Metals' Bank being lenders.

Cases Postponed. Washington, November 3.—The Kentucky tobacco cases involving the constitutionality of Kentucky crop pooling laws, set for argument this week in the Supreme Court, to-day were postponed temporarily, on account of the indisposition of Attorney-General Garnett.

UNION WITH COUNT IS ENDED QUICKLY

Decree of Divorce Granted in French Courts to Countess de Bois Lucy.

[Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.] Paris, November 3.—Another marriage of an American woman to a Frenchman ended unhappily to-day when the Supreme Court of France granted an interlocutory decree of divorce by the Paris courts against Count Andre Hayot de Bois Lucy.

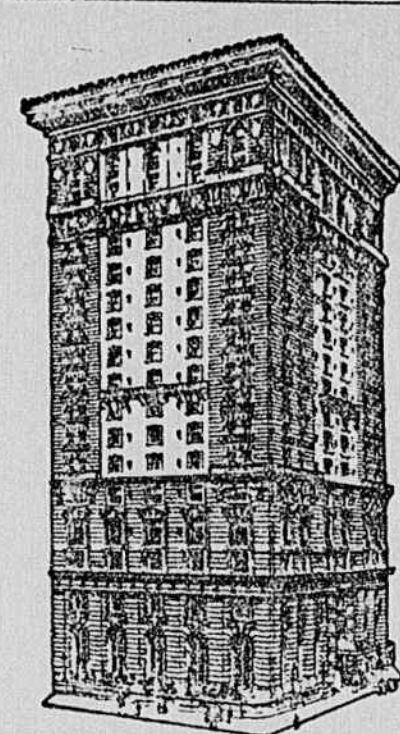

This case is supposed to hold the record for short marriage alliances. The couple were married in Paris on December 21 last. They went to Cairo for the honeymoon, and had scarcely returned to the Continent when disputes arose. The countess said that the count was in the habit of insulting her, and charged that he had struck her. Then they separated after little more than ten weeks of married life. The countess shortly thereafter began the divorce proceedings, which resulted in her favor to-day.

The count entered no defense, and the decree becomes absolute within two months should the count fail in his appeal.

The countess was the widow of J. D. Bachelder, then wealthy Chicago lumberman, who left her a considerable fortune. She had her first marriage she was Julia O'Neill, of New Orleans. The marriage, according to the countess, was purely an affair of affection. She had both an American husband and a member of the French aristocracy, the countess is quoted as saying that she has come to the unshakable conviction that the American men make the best husbands. She says the American men are also the finest types of the whole world. Should she so desire, the countess may continue to use the title as the French aristocracy. She will return to the United States in a short time.

Quick Way to Make Ugly Hair Vanish

(The Modern Beauty.) Here is a quick and very effective treatment for banishing objectionable hairs or fuzz: Mix a stiff paste with a little powdered deodorant and water and apply to the hairy surface for about two or three minutes, then rub off, and with it will come every trace of hair. Washing the skin and remove the remaining paste leaves it firm and free from blemish. Rarely is more than one application required, but results are more positive when the deodorant is purchased in an original package. (Advertisement.)

That Is True

"Coffee drinking almost ruined my health before a heart and nerve specialist informed me that coffee was my whole trouble.

"I am 53 years of age, and from boyhood up to about the year 1900 I was strong and well, could eat any kind of food day or night, slept soundly, and it was said that I had no nerves.

"I began to suffer from indigestion and was getting sleepless and nervous. I took medicine, kept at work, and stuck to my coffee—the harm of it was never suggested to me.

"One morning just after dressing I collapsed, and for six weeks I was very, very sick. But I pulled through. After another rest I did not improve, but became worse. My heart got very bad, so weak at times that I would faint. I also suffered from constipation.

"In February, 1908, I was obliged to resign my position as manager.

"Finally in July, 1911, I came to San Francisco to consult the best heart and nerve specialist to be found, and was directed to Dr.

He made a thorough examination and several blood tests. He told me that the trouble was with my heart and nerves—brought about by coffee; that the caffeine contained in coffee was poison to me; and to stop the use of coffee absolutely and immediately. Since that time I have not tasted one drop of coffee.

"When I stopped coffee, I thought, What shall I drink? Milk has a tendency to constipate me; cold water is all right in its place, but it doesn't belong on the breakfast table. So I concluded to try Postum. It is delicious with cream and sugar. I drink it whenever I can find it, and I enjoy it as well as I once did coffee.

"My normal weight was about 170 lbs. and I had been as low as 133. In three weeks I was greatly improved; in six months I began to feel like my old self, and now, ten months after I stopped coffee, I am about well and weigh 178 lbs. I have not been constipated once—not once! My stomach seems as good as ever; I sleep well, feel well, and I am well.

"I am sure my good doctor's advice, 'stop coffee,' is the secret of my improvement.

"Of course I 'have it in' for coffee, and why shouldn't I? See what it cost me, my health, position and thousands of dollars.

"Now, in conclusion, you are at liberty to use my name any way you wish. I enclose names of my doctors. My only object is to help other afflicted persons. I don't want any compensation, and would not accept any."

Postum now comes in two forms.

Regular Postum must be well boiled.

Instant Postum is a soluble powder. A spoonful dissolves in a cup of hot water and, with sugar and cream, makes a perfect cup instantly.

Grocers everywhere sell both kinds.
